Tamala McBath

CEO, Dress for Success Phoenix

As Chief Executive Officer of Dress for Success Phoenix, Tamala McBath is responsible for guiding the organization's mission of empowering women and their families to achieve financial independence through education, support, and viable employment. Tamala is also a keynote speaker, executive coach, and trainer in both for-profit and nonprofit leadership. Her commitment to community service is evident through her volunteer work with the City of Phoenix's Human Services Commission and its Community Development Review Committee. She serves on the Greater Phoenix Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the national board for The Meaning & Hope Institute, and is a member of the Charter 100 Arizona, a nonpartisan, nonprofit network organization of outstanding women leaders.

Tamala has been recognized as an influential leader, being featured in numerous media outlets like the Phoenix Business Journal, FOX10, ABC15, Arizona's Family and nationally on CBS News. Her accolades include being part of Phoenix Magazine's prestigious "Great 48" and being named an "Outstanding Woman in Business" by the Phoenix Business Journal. She holds a bachelor's degree in Social Work from Christopher Newport University in Virginia and a master's degree from the Thunderbird School of Global Management at Arizona State University.
